From the Mayor

Imagine walking out your front door in the morning to the local coffee shop where you leisurely enjoy a cup of your favorite brew and take in the day's news. You then walk to work, where nearly every employee has a fantastic view of a lake surrounded by acres of park grounds. After work, you and your family enjoy outdoor dining at a local restaurant, take in a theater production from STAGES St. Louis and meet friends afterwards for a causal get together—and it's all right here in Chesterfield. Soon, you won't just imagine it...you'll be able to live it! Yes, Chesterfield has a new "downtown" on the way, thanks to the leadership and vision of Louis Sachs of Sachs Properties—a vision that is finally coming to fruition within the area known as Chesterfield Village.

Located within the City's "urban core", within approximately 150 acres west of Westfield Shoppingtown-Chesterfield, Downtown Chesterfield will be like nothing else found in the region. The first phase, spanning from Lydia Hill to Burkardt Place, will encompass 20 acres in an area adjacent to the St. Louis County Library, the YMCA and the City's Central Park. The first structure you'll see is the five-story Central Park Square One office building, which will be constructed at the northwest corner of Lydia Hill and Chesterfield Parkway West early this spring. Future plans for this area include 26,000 square feet of restaurant and retail space and an additional office building similar to Central Park Square One.

The next phase of Downtown Chesterfield will be located within a 100-acre area to the north of Burkardt Place and includes plans for additional office, retail, restaurant, and residential areas. The area on the east side of Chesterfield Parkway West, adjacent to the new STAGES St. Louis Performing Arts Center, includes plans for large office buildings and/or restaurant sites.

The residential portion of this area is called The Reserve at Chesterfield Village and is being developed by the Hayden Company. The Reserve will consist of 190 units, mixing single-family homes, luxury villas and mid-rise condos. Construction on these homes will start November 15 with all of the homes, businesses, shops and parks within Downtown Chesterfield being connected by sidewalks and walking trails. Additionally, a relocation of Wild Horse Creek Road is currently under construction. When completed, traffic will be allowed to flow continuously, by-passing the current "T" intersection near the trailer park on its east end of Wild Horse Creek Road.

Through a partnership between the City and Sachs Properties, two recreational lakes are also under construction, one of which the City will own and incorporate as part of Central Park. The lakes will be jointly used by the City and businesses in the area as a backdrop to the Downtown Chesterfield design. Both lakes will serve as regional detention and will allow for recreational amenities, along with complementing the future riparian trail that will connect to Chesterfield Valley. Lake amenities may include boardwalks, fishing and paddleboats.

Another key part to Downtown Chesterfield is STAGES St. Louis, which has just moved its corporate offices to Chesterfield in the current location of their Performing Arts Center at 444 Chesterfield Center. STAGES St. Louis anticipates breaking ground on their new Performing Arts Center in late spring of 2007, with plans to open in 2008 just in time for a holiday production. This $30 million project will house the Midwest's leading performing arts center for musical theatre performance and education. The complex will include a 730-seat main theater, a 200-seat smaller theater and a year-round performing arts academy offering classes in voice, dance and drama for nearly 2,000 children and adults alike. Nearly 200,000 patrons will visit STAGES each year, which will employ more than 100 local theater professionals and generate a huge economic impact for Chesterfield. Please join me in welcoming STAGES St. Louis to Chesterfield by purchasing a subscription to their final 2007 season in Kirkwood at the Robert G. Reim Theatre. Visit www.stagesstlouis.org for more information or to make a donation.

As you can see, we are very fortunate and very excited to have such a project coming to us in Chesterfield. It will only enhance what we, as residents of Chesterfield, already know as one of the region's best places to live, work and recreate.

Energy Efficiencies

Want to save energy, money and reduce your impact on the environment? Consider "Energy Star" qualified products. Over 40 product categories exist that have earned the "Energy Star" designation. Energy efficiency is important because it saves money for families and businesses, as well as helps to protect the environment through lessening greenhouse gas emissions and reducing air pollution. According to AmerenUE, if every household replaced one light bulb with an "Energy Star" qualified compact fluorescent light bulb (CFL), it would prevent pollution in an amount equal to removing one million cars from the road per year! Earning the "Energy Star" means the products meet strict energy efficiency guidelines established by the U.S. EPA and the Department of Energy. Learn more at www.energystar.gov.

Chesterfield Arts Makes Its Mark Keep your eyes open for CHAMP (Champion of the Arts)

Chesterfield Arts and METRO Arts in Transit joined forces on Saturday, September 16 for its second "Make Your Mark" community art event! The event, which focused on painting a METRO bus, Chesterfield's first community traveling piece of art, was held in the parking lot of Chesterfield Arts with the help of METRO Arts in Transit. Last year, Chesterfield youngsters made fanciful sculptures that lined Chesterfield Parkway as part of the "Pathway on the Parkway" dedication process.

"Make Your Mark" is a unique community event aimed at promoting an interest in art and bringing people together for a fun, creative afternoon. Other activities during this year's event included an Imagination Station and Stories with Stages St. Louis, complimentary refreshments from Sheridan's Frozen Custard, and free hot dogs compliments of David Asmus of Hinshaw & Culbertson LLP.

The bus, designed by artist Stuart Morse, features CHAMP (Chesterfield Arts' Champion of the Arts). With paintbrush in hand, CHAMP "zaps beige and boredom wherever he goes." Morse created a "paint-by-number" system making the project accessible and fun for all ages.

Arts in Transit (AIT) is a community partnership program of METRO. AIT attempts to "forge community partnerships and create community-oriented transit environments, which are customer-friendly and aesthetically appealing." Since its inception in 1986, AIT has completed more than 100 public art installations and community enhancements.

Chesterfield Arts is a non-profit community arts organization dedicated to fostering the growth of the visual, performing and literary arts within the City of Chesterfield and the West County region. To cultivate enthusiasm in a variety of artistic mediums, Chesterfield Arts presents a diverse mix of performing arts programs, exhibits high-quality artwork by professional artists and hosts educational classes for all ages. For more information, please visit www.chesterfield-arts.org.

Historical Marker Placed at Original Town Site

Wild Horse Elementary School is home to a historical marker representing the original town site of Chesterfield. The monument includes a portrait and information on Justus Post, founder of Chesterfield. Dedication of the marker took place on Saturday, September 23. St. Louis County Executive Charlie Dooley, representatives from the National Society Colonial Dames XVII Century, Rockwood School District and the City of Chesterfield participated in the dedication.

Dan Rothwell, Vice Chairperson for the Landmark Preservation Commission, Corresponding Secretary for the Historical Commission, author of "A Guide to Chesterfield's Architectural Treasures" and "Chesterfield's Citizen of the Year 2005," led the research process in recognizing the original site where Chesterfield was founded.

The original town was platted in 1817 but not recorded with St. Louis County until 1838. There were once six towns, each with their own post office, within Chesterfield's present city limits, one of which was Chesterfield.

A duplicate of this historical marker will soon be hung at City Hall.

L-R: David Glaser, Rockwood School District; Mary Brown, Chesterfield City Council; Charlie Dooley, St. Louis County Executive; Terry Wunderlich, Chesterfield Historical Commission Vice Chair; Mrs. Jack Howerton, XVII Dames, MO Marking Chair; Charlotte Boyd, XVII Dames, Chapter President; Mrs. Eldon Allen, XVII Dames, MO State President; Dan Rothwell, Chesterfield Historical Commission Corresponding Secretary.

Historical Calendars Now Available

The Historical Commission announced recently that the 2007 Historical Calendars are now available. These calendars feature 12 or more black and white photographs, maps, plats or illustrations of historic Chesterfield buildings and sites, as well as people who helped establish the area we now call Chesterfield.

The 2007 calendars sell for $5 each; 2001-2006 calendars are available for $2 each. A gift pack of the 10 oldest calendars (1991-2000) sells for $15 per package. Many residents have acquired these older calendars just for their historic photographs.

As a reminder, the Historical Commission and the Landmark Preservation Commission also have the following books for sale: "A Guide to Chesterfield's Architectural Treasures", $20; "Chesterfield, Missouri Cemeteries," $15; "Historic Chesterfield Coloring Book," $5; and "A Guide to Chesterfield's Ancient History," $15.

All calendars and books are available at the front desk of City Hall. For more information, contact Arland Stemme at (314) 275-2031 or City Hall at (636) 537-4000.

The Chesterfield Alliance for Positive Youth

The Chesterfield Drug Abuse Task Force has changed its name and is now the Chesterfield Alliance for Positive Youth. This group of volunteers has kept its primary mission to identify and implement ways to stop the abuse and illegal use of drugs and alcohol and to focus on education, prevention and alternatives to alcohol and drugs for Chesterfield's youth.

The Committee will continue to sponsor the annual middle school pool party held in August at the Central Park Aquatic Center. The Acoustic Café for high school students, which is in its sixth year, will also continue. It is held at the West County YMCA on four Friday nights during the school year. Local students provide the music and the Committee provides the snack food. Admission is $5.

In the future, the Committee is planning to co-sponsor a Chesterfield

Alliance for Positive Youth Day at the Westfield Shopping Center – Chesterfield. There will be booths and exhibits including education, demonstrations, detection and community resources for alternatives to alcohol and drugs. In addition, there will be information about where to go for help, if needed.

The Committee NEEDS a few good men and women; they are currently seeking new members. They meet on the second Tuesday of the month at 7 p.m. at City Hall. Anyone interested can contact Tess Bolanos of the National Council of Alcohol and Drug Abuse at (314) 962-3456 for further information. The Alliance looks forward to meeting YOU.

Dangerous Animal Ordinance

In September 2005, the City of Chesterfield enacted Ordinance No. 2198 to address concerns about potentially dangerous animals. The ordinance specifically identifies any bull terrier breed of dog, American pit bull, American Staffordshire terrier breed of dog, or any mixed breed of dog which closely resembles, either physically or genetically, any type of pit bull as a "dangerous animal".

The ordinance also classifies any dog which has attacked or bitten a person or other animal without provocation on public or private property as being dangerous. If an owner of such an animal, as listed above, wishes to keep that animal on their property, there are specific guidelines within the ordinance requiring the dog to be registered with the Police Department. The dog must also be confined in such a way as to limit the danger to the public. Full details may be found online at www.chesterfield.mo.us, under the "City Ordinances" section or using a search for Ordinance No. 2198.

Recycling Curbside Holiday Paper Waste and Telephone Books

Please recycle your old or surplus telephone books AS WELL AS your holiday paper gift wrappings, paper gift bags, cardboard and chipboard gift boxes, holiday cards and junk mail, catalogs and so much more in your curbside recycle bin. Chesterfield's curbside recyclables can be remanufactured with less energy use and less negative environmental impact than those made from virgin natural resources. Pick up a copy of the "THINK RESOURCES, NOT TRASH" flyer at City Hall to make sure you are maximizing curb recycling. Help enhance local and domestic remanufacturing!

Sustainable Gardening Practices

Composting and gardening with native flora for butterflies contributes to the health of our environment! Compost includes recycling leaves, grass clippings and twigs and converting same into rich organic matter, which can be added to the soils. Compost promotes healthy soil which, in turn, sustains healthier plants. Healthy plants can perform their jobs of cleaning the air, conserving our soil and sustaining healthy biodiversity—especially for pollinators like the butterfly which is among the most environmentally sensitive!

When considering a landscape plan for your yard, please consider using hardy, adaptable native flora that will grow well in your perennial border, on your patio, or in a special bed! Plant native flora and establish a butterfly garden! Well-established and maintained native plant communities can help resist non-natives that threaten habitat and crops. For more information, check out www.grownative.org and take a winter walk to City Hall to get your copies of:

- Yardwaste Management Brochure
- Homeowner's Composting Guide
- Building the Compost Pile

Important Issues about Overhead Electric Utility Lines

As the storms from last July demonstrated, trees and power lines simply do not mix. The City of Chesterfield is joining with AmerenUE to urge all Chesterfield residents not to plant trees within utility easements or in such a manner that branches from mature trees will eventually interact with overhead power lines. If you are currently concerned about tree growth in or near electric lines, please contact AmerenUE at (314) 342-1000. DO NOT ATTEMPT TO TRIM OR REMOVE TREES/BRANCHES YOURSELF!

AmerenUE will inspect the area of concern, typically within five business days, and will schedule tree-trimming as necessary. If a hazardous or safety condition exists, AmerenUE will make it a high priority to trim or remove the tree(s) in question. AmerenUE's current policy is to down trees/limbs located in/near overhead power lines and cut same into firewood length. Removal is then the responsibility of the property owner.

Laclede Gas Needs Your Help

Laclede Gas is now installing new automated meter readers (AMRs) throughout Chesterfield. Once complete, more than 650,000 natural gas customers in eastern Missouri will receive new AMR technology at no additional cost. The AMR generates precise charges and eliminates the need for estimated billing. Installing this new technology is fast—just 15 minutes—and the installation and the device are free! If you have a meter inside your home, please call Laclede Gas at (314) 621-6960 to schedule an appointment at your convenience to have your new AMR installed. For more information on AMR, please visit www.lacledegas.com.

Holiday Trash Schedule

Since Christmas Day falls on a Monday this year, Monday's trash pick up will take place on Tuesday; Tuesday's on Wednesday; Thursday's on Friday; and Friday's on Saturday. The same pick up schedule will apply for the New Year's Day holiday, which also falls on a Monday.

Stormwater Pollution Prevention: You can make a difference!

What is Stormwater?

Stormwater is rain that falls on roofs, lawns or paved areas like driveways, parking lots and roads, and is carried away by a system of man-made and natural landscapes (storm drains, streets, drainage ditches, and creeks). As it flows over the land surface, stormwater picks up or is contaminated by dirt, chemicals, pet waste, garbage, and other pollutants. This untreated water is discharged into our local streams, rivers, ponds and lakes.

Why should I care?

Contaminated or polluted stormwater can lead to significant water quality problems:

- Sediment clouds water making it difficult for aquatic plants to grow.
- Excess nutrients deplete oxygen levels. Fish and other aquatic organisms can not survive when oxygen levels decrease.
- Household hazardous wastes (insecticides, pesticides, paint/solvents) can poison aquatic life.
- Bacteria and other pathogens (found in fecal waste) discharged cause health hazards.
- Polluted stormwater often affects drinking water sources.

Ways You Can Help Prevent Stormwater Pollution

Lawn and Garden Maintenance

- Use fertilizers and pesticides sparingly.
- Select native plants and grasses that are drought tolerant and pest resistant.
- Compost yard waste or utilize the yard waste collection service provided by Allied Waste. For more information regarding yard waste collection, please contact Allied Waste at (636) 947-5959.
- Plant grass or vegetation where soil is exposed; cover piles of dirt and mulch.

Trash and Debris

- Place litter in trash bins.
- Never place trash or yard waste into storm drains or creeks.

Hazardous Waste, Paints and Solvents

- Store substances properly.
- When using outdoors, clean up spills immediately.
- Never rinse painting equipment where the rinse water can run into the storm drain.
- Dispose of excess paints/solvents during household hazardous waste collection programs. For more information regarding these programs, please contact St. Louis County Department of Health at www.stlouisco.com/doh/waste/waste_mg.html or (314) 286-9200.

Pet Waste

- Dispose of pet waste by placing in the trash, flushing down the toilet or burying in the yard at a depth of at least six inches.
- When walking your pet, pick up the waste and dispose of it properly.
- Routinely remove pet waste from your yard and dispose of properly.
- Do not dispose of pet waste near storm drains, ditches, creeks or bodies of water.

Vehicle Maintenance and Repair

- Check your vehicle for leaks.
- Clean up spilled fluids with an absorbent material like kitty litter or sand.
- Recycle used oil and automotive fluids at participating service stations. Never dump these materials down the storm drains, in ditches or creeks, or place in the trash. Jiffy Lube, located at 13490 Olive Boulevard in Chesterfield, collects used oil. For more information, please contact Jiffy Lube at (314) 275-9499.

Keep Your Driveway Free From Snow!

Clearing snow from the street frequently results in blockage of previously cleared driveways. We know that this can be very frustrating, but drivers cannot always control where snow will drop from the plow. It will always drop when snow has been cleared from the side. To minimize a large wind row of snow across your driveway, you can clear an area of the street gutter 10 to 15 feet in advance of your driveway. In doing this, you create an area for the snow to drop off before the plow reaches your driveway. The drivers are unable to remove the snow wind rows from the over 16,000 housing units in Chesterfield.

Please Don't Park on Streets During Snow Removal!

City ordinances prohibit parking on designated snow routes during snowfall events of two inches or more. Parking that obstructs emergency snow removal equipment is prohibited on all streets during any snow event and can result in your car being towed. If you are parking on the street, please consider the width of a truck equipped with a snow plow. Unfortunately, if your car is parked on the street, the accumulated snow gets pushed around the vehicle and will require a significant effort to free your car. Parking can resume once the street has been cleared curb-to-curb.

Your cooperation is sincerely appreciated and will assist in providing the best snow removal possible. During snow removal, residents can call City Hall for updates.

Multi-Purpose Recreational Trail

In conjunction with the Great Rivers Greenway District (GRGD), and with the support of the Monarch-Chesterfield Levee District, the City of Chesterfield has been working to acquire easements which will allow for construction of a multi-purpose recreational trail on top of the levee that protects the Chesterfield Valley. Phase I of this trail will be constructed from the Summit Ice Sports Complex to the Chesterfield Valley Athletic Complex, an approximate distance of 3.5 miles.

Funding for this project is provided by grant funds from the GRGD, the Chesterfield Valley Transportation Development District (TDD) and the City of Chesterfield.

It is the City's long-term plan to connect the "Pathway on the Parkway", located adjacent to Chesterfield Parkway, with this levee trail. Regional plans also include connecting the levee trail with other trails being constructed in adjacent cities, providing a link to the Katy Trail, and establishing a trail parallel to the Missouri River to the confluence of the Missouri and Mississippi, connecting to the Riverfront Trail.
