CHESTERFIELD POLICE TWITTER EFFORT

The Chesterfield Police Department, seeking to provide an additional communication tool for its citizens, began using Twitter Tuesday June 16, 2009. The agency will provide information and updates via twitter relative to road closures, ongoing incidents which directly affect the community and other matters where the public and media would need to be notified immediately. This will not replace any other methods of communication being used by the police department, but will serve as an additional tool for reaching the community. Neighborhood leaders and local businesses will now have another option for getting updates in a real time manner.

The goal for our partners in the Neighborhood Watch Program, Subdivision Trustees, and the Chesterfield Business community, is to use this tool to notify members of these groups of current events and direct them to the appropriate communication outlet. For example, for those who choose to follow the Police Department on Twitter we will release a notice or a "tweet" that would direct a neighborhood watch member to our website to receive information about a neighborhood issue. We may use it to warn businesses in the Chesterfield Valley of a road closure or impending issue that directly affects them. We might specify information for Chesterfield Mall merchants and provide a link that they could follow to get additional information pertinent to their concerns. In other words, we hope to use this method of communication to almost instantly notify persons of current issues that would be of concern of an immediate nature.

Anyone wishing to follow the Chesterfield Police on Twitter may do so by visiting the Twitter site and searching for our web name "CHESTERFIELDPD" in the search section, or may simply go to the Chesterfield Police Website and click on the Twitter Link. <http://twitter.com/ChesterfieldPD> We know that Twitter will not be for everyone, but it is currently one of the fastest growing forms of communication in the Country and we know that many of our residents are among its users. We encourage each and every one of you to log on and follow the Chesterfield Police Department on Twitter.
